

The Neighborhood Trust Association Wallet sign-out forms

WWW.NeighborhoodTrust.Org

Be prepared for sharing anything at any time or place by printing copies of these wallet-sized sign-out and instruction forms. Keep two sets on you: one for you, and one for the person you are sharing with. After any share, re-stock your bill-fold with another set for your next partner. Properly used, each of these sets is worth hundreds of dollars and is priceless in the value of increased trust between friends and an increased sense of "community" within your life.

Print the appropriate pages of this document in color or black & white. If you are good at playing with your printer, you might be able to print pages 2&3 as one two sided document. Otherwise, just snip what you need to carry of either form!

Honorable sharing builds trust between friends, "village" within neighborhoods, conserves environmental resources, reduces clutter, and--on the whole--frees up resources for more important personal (and even group) purchases.

The purpose of the Neighborhood Trust Association is to provide a framework for such dependable sharing.

The Basic Rules of Honorable Sharing:

- 1) Don't borrow what you couldn't pay for;
- 2) Don't loan what you couldn't do without;
- 3) Borrower returns the item by the agreed-upon date or expects to pay a fine; and
- 4) Lender determines the amount of extra compensation (if necessary) for damage or loss, and notifies borrower of that within seven days of the item's return; borrower compensates within 30 days of that date.
